

Anahilt Primary School

225 year Anniversary activities

Next year we are celebrating our 225th anniversary as a primary school. Today I have set you various challenges that you can do at home to help me prepare for our big celebration.

You can choose to do all of them or some of them. They can be done on paper that you have at home and then bring them in, and we will display it all in school.

1. Read the document called our School - recent history on the P6 website page. It was written by a P7 pupil over 50 years ago (look how good the handwriting is ! )
Make some notes for a 12 question Quiz when you return to school – BIG prizes are available!
2. Design a new school badge for the 225th anniversary that we could use on our logo / headed paper and even to produce some nice pin badges to give out to everyone. Make it a full A4 page size so it keeps the detail when we shrink it down.
3. Write a letter to some celebrities that you follow or admire telling them that we are 225 years old. Give them some details about our school and what you enjoy doing here and then ask them if would like to send us a congratulations message by video or by letter.
4. Design a flyer / invite for all 'ex pupils' ( alumni) inviting them back to the school next year to have a look around and maybe even chat to us in assembly, or in our classrooms, about what life used to be like in Anahilt Primary.
5. Brainstorm some other ideas that you would like to see happening next year in school to celebrate this great achievement of being 225 years old!
